

About Jennifer Gauvain:

Jennifer Gauvain is licensed clinical social worker. Her primary focus is working with couples and families. With more than 14 years' experience in private practice, she helps readers of "How Not to Marry the Wrong Guy" interpret the stories and address the issues revealed by those who forged ahead with a mistaken marriage. Her clinical skills and expertise can help women who are struggling with their relationship or pending marriage to effectively discern what they are really searching for in their life.

Gauvain earned a master's degree in social work from the George Warren Brown School of Social Work at Washington University in St. Louis. She continued her postgraduate training at The Menninger Relationship and Family Therapy Training Institute. She recently completed internal family systems training through the Center for Self Leadership in Oak Park, Ill. Gauvain lives and works in St. Louis, Missouri.
